SECOND IMPRESSION / IDENTITY STANDARDS / 02

Keep the character.
Clarify the change.

A SYSTEM FOR PRINT, PRODUCT AND THE STUDIO.

One piece. One change. One clear next step.

A named garment anchors the story. One visible intervention expresses the repair. A practical information rail carries the ID, repair type and next action. Quiet space separates the emotional invitation from operational detail.

x = lowercase height. Minimum clear space = 0.5x.

Measure from the visible outline, not the exported SVG bounds. Keep rules, copy and die cuts outside that space.

AVOID / small red-on-lilac mark

Use supplied outlines. Never distort width, add an outline or shadow, fill letters with a photo, or rearrange the word into a new symbol. The wordmark is a licensed type-based design, not custom lettering.

Use vermilion for one emphasis. It is not the only status signal. Avoid normal-size vermilion copy on lilac (3.43:1). Keep essential reading on the quiet combination (13.32:1).

Identity, classification and version are separate. Never use the repair code as a garment ID.

01 / OBJECT

Stable ID and recognisable garment name.

02 / ATTENTION

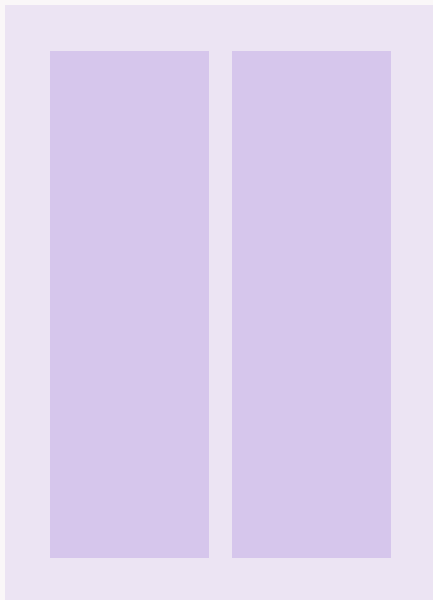

Plain-language problem, then the repair code.

03 / NEXT ACTION

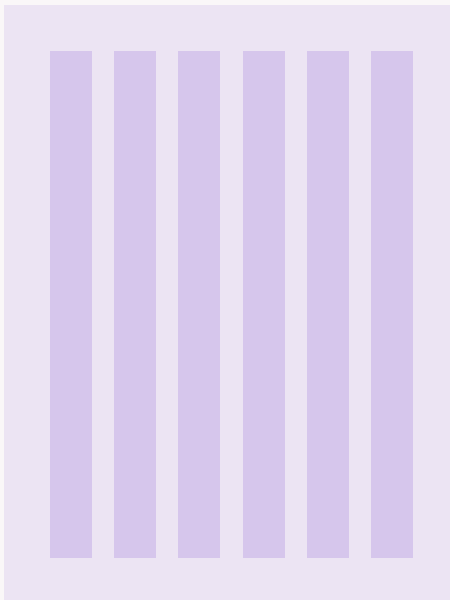

Review, ask, approve a version, or collect.

Add a status word, never colour alone. Keep personal data off exterior labels.

4 px UI base. 6 mm editorial rhythm. Equal margins are a choice, not a law.

11 / SHOW THE PIECE, THEN THE DETAIL

Soft side light. Realistic material scale. One legible intervention. No invented hands, tools or documentary claims.

Generated illustration is labelled. Exact copy lives in authored flat artwork.

01 Needs review

Read the proposed change.

02 Scope changed

A new revision needs a fresh decision.

03 Agreement recorded

Show the version; allow reversal in the prototype.

A digital example approval never authorises a real-world repair.

Join. Then settle.

160 ms: colour and border feedback. 280 ms: a joining-rule reveal. No delay before form feedback. No automatic cinematic entrance.

Brand demonstration: user-triggered, one pass, then a still frame. Reduced motion displays the result immediately.

Beautiful is also legible and usable.

PDFs use RGB colours with embedded type. Confirm the printer, substrate and profile before separation. Do not invent a Pantone match. Supply 3 mm bleed when required; keep essential text 5 mm from trim and holes.

Print tags at actual size. Test glare, reading distance, hole placement and QR scanning. Packaging nets are dimensioned prototypes, not supplier-approved cutting dies.
