

INTER VAL

A FESTIVAL FOR CLOSE LISTENING

MAKE SPACE.

For the sound.
For the silence.
For something new.

THE POCKET LISTENING GUIDE

TWO DAYS / THREE ROOMS / CONCEPT EDITION

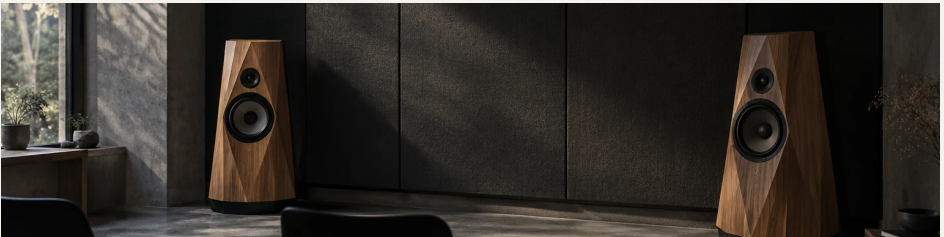

INTER VAL

AN INVITATION

A different kind of attention.

A room changes when people listen. A small sound becomes a landmark. A pause gives the next note somewhere to begin.

INTERVAL is a fictional festival exploring spoken, acoustic and amplified listening. This guide connects the programme, the room and the choices you make.

Three ways to listen.

01

Spoken

Conversation, guided attention and ideas. No specialist musical knowledge is assumed.

02

Acoustic

Sound made by physical materials and instruments without an amplified performance.

03

Amplified

Recorded or electronic sound through speakers. Read the session notes for more context.

INTER VAL

THE PROGRAMME / SATURDAY

Saturday.

11:00 - 11:45

FIND YOUR LISTENING PLACE

One welcome. Three rooms.

WELCOME DESK

Concept schematic. Not a measured floor plan.

Match the number on your guide, sign and screen.

Know the setting.

Seating

Read whether the session is all seated or has a mixture of standing and sitting.

Light & sound

Check the lighting and sound source. A format label is not a sensory-safety guarantee.

Arriving & pausing

A real event must confirm step-free routes, facilities, quiet space and re-entry arrangements.

These are proposed information requirements for a fictional venue. No access audit is claimed.

INTER VAL

A FIELD NOTE

Listen a little closer.

For one minute, notice a sound you would normally pass over. Where does it begin? What changes when you pay attention?

I NOTICED...

NO RIGHT ANSWER. JUST ATTENTION.

INTER VAL

YOUR DAY, ON PAPER

Leave some space.

Write the sessions you want to keep. Check the end of one against the start of the next. A break is part of the plan.
